FOREWORD

It is common knowledge that the use of illegal drugs by our young people has reached epidemic proportions. The problem is a dangerously real one, and many individuals and organizations are attacking it on a variety of fronts.

The State Education Department believes the primary focus should be placed on prevention through effective educational experiences. Students must be realistically informed of the total nature of drugs so that they become capable of making mature personal decisions involving their own use of drugs.

It is the responsibility of the education community to provide in large part the input that fosters a young person's decision: the school must be the primary medium where the drug information is provided, the questions raised, and the resulting decision reached. Since formal drug education is a relatively recent endeavor, complete resource lists are difficult to find. To facilitate the efforts of educators, the Special Unit on Health and Drug Education has developed a Multimedia Resource Guide. It is anticipated that the contents herein will be of considerable value in the planning and the acquisition of material learning aids. The Guide will be updated from time to time as new resources become available.

This Resource Guide is only one of a number of tools that, if effectively utilized, can significantly aid the educator in the monumental task before him. The present youthful drug problem has evolved over a period of years. It will not disappear overnight. However, with the availability of materials such as the Multimedia Resource Guide, the task of implementing successful preventative health and drug education will be markedly less demanding.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We wish to express our appreciation to the many individuals, agencies and companies who assisted in the compilation of this resource list. In addition we are grateful to the associations that granted permission to reprint listings of their materials.

A special thanks should go to Kenneth E. Veselak, Associate Professor of Health and Physical Education at Nassau Community College for compiling most of the references herein contained. A final recognition and appreciation must go to the members of the Special Unit on Health and Drug Education for their most valuable contributions and advice.

Narcotic Addiction Control Commission, Executive Park South, Albany, N.Y. 12203.

The Commission has a series of tape recordings of narcotic addicts and people who know them. The tapes can be borrowed free of charge.

Dialogue for Our Time: Narcotic Addiction. The tapes presented in this series have a running time of 24 1/2 minutes each at a speed of 7 1/2 ips. Each tape is composed of an interview with an addict who discusses his habit, how it affected his life and the lives of those around him, and a discussion of the treatment and rehabilitation of addicts by an involved professional.

6701: HOWARD AND MISS WEINTRAUB

Howard, a heroin user for 30 of his 52 years, has kicked the habit a number of times, but he has always resumed the use.

6702: NICK AND DR. GLASER

Nick, introduced to marihuana at 14, at first used drugs for "kicks" and to gain poor group acceptance. He also took drugs to escape from the anxieties of a broken home. At 18, he became addicted to heroin, selling drugs to support his habit.

6703: BOB AND DR. MEISELAS

Bob used Marihuana, narbiturates, and amphetamines before heroin. He started using pills to ease his feeling of loneliness.

6704: VINCE AND DR. BRILL

Vince, raised in a middle-class suburban neighborhood began to use drugs because he felt there was something missing in his home life.

6705: AL AND MR. SCHULTE

A World War II veteran and family man, Al tried sniffing heroin in 1948 when a friend offered the drug to him. Soon after, he was main-lining because he "liked the feeling."

6706: CELESTE AND MR. McCORMICK

Expecting to find her fortune in New York, 18-year-old Celeste ran away from her California home. Instead, she found loneliness, indifference and destitution. She became a drug taker.

6707: JOE AND MR. GOFF

When they were courting, Joe and his fiance took cough syrup for kicks; after marriage, they turned to heroin. When Joe's wife saw what the drug was doing to them and their marriage, she stopped. Now, Joe is trying to erase his psychological need for the drug, because he will lose his wife if he cannot.

6708: NELSON AND MR. PIERCE

Now, after treatment, Nelson understand that drugs were his escape from the pressures and problems of everyday life.

6709: NEVILLE

Many people were failures in Neville's slum neighborhood, and many people there used drugs. Neville turned to marihuana at 14 as a cushion against the failure he thought was inevitable. Then, in his late teens, he tried the heroin his friends offered him — convinced that he would never become an addict.

6710: JACKIE AND MR. HILL

Jackie wanted to be with the "in" crowd. Curiosity led her to drugs, and she developed a $50-a-day habit, which she supported through prostitution.

6711: MARGE AND DR. JURGENSEN

Marge, married and the mother of two, could not stay away from heroin. She spent up to $150 a day during her 11-year link with drugs.

6712: FRANCIS AND MR. CARLOS

Bored, Francis turned to drugs because it "just happened to be the thing to do at the time." He was 23 years old when he became a heroin addict.

6713: TONY

Tony always wanted to stand out from the rest of the crowd, and he thought marihuana made him different. He turned to heroin a year later, at 16. Tony believes he made the transition from marihuana to heroin because it was "the thing to do" among members of his drug crowd.

6714: BILL AND GOVERNOR ROCKEFELLER

Bill grew up "in the streets" and turned to drugs when his friends did. By the time he was certified to the State Narcotic Commission, he has been an addict for 21 years and was the father of seven children.

6715: EDDIE

Eddie thinks of himself as being a "black sheep." While in high school, he began to sniff glue. He turned to heroin for bigger kicks.

6716: DAVE AND MR. CHINLUND

On November 1, 1959, Dave took his first trip on a "bombita," a pill normally prescribed for heart disease. He liked the experience so much that he tried heroin the next day. Dave hid his heroin habit so well that he was taken into the U.S. Army.

6801: MARY ANN AND MR. PIERCE

Twenty-one years old, intelligent, a drug user since she was 15, Mary Ann assesses her progress after a year in the New York State narcotics program.

6802: GRACE

Grace started to use heroin at age 37. Now 44 years of age, she talks about what has happened to her.

6803: PAUL

Paul at age 24 has used marihuana, the amphetamines, and became addicted to heroin. He talks of his deep alienation from society.

6804: PADDY AND MAYOR KENNEDY

Paddy needed to belong to a gang. His fear of rejection led him finally to follow the group in using heroin.

6805: RAY

Ray, a family man, used drugs initially to ease pain, then found himself addicted. He talks of his struggle to restore his family life.

6806: TONY AND MR. PETERS

Tony, at 29, has led a number of lives. Removed from his home at 7, placed in an orphanage, a foster home, a juvenile institution, jailed 12 times, Tony wants to make it in the square world.

6807: IRENE

Irene says that she has been cured of her heroin habit. Now back in the world, working, picking up the threads of her life, she talks about why she used drugs.

6808: FRED

Fred started on drugs at 11 and now, at age 30, he talks about the daily grind of the hard drug user and his gnawing sense of futility.

6809: HENRY AND MR. SMITH

Henry became a heavy drinker after the breakup of his marriage. He was warned by his doctor that his excessive use of alcohol would kill him. Rather than face his problems, he became a heroin user.

6810: RUTH

Ruth, at 27, has spent most of her life in institutions. She was brought up in a convent. She ran away at 16, became a prostitute, and began using heroin to forget her problems.

6811: PAUL AND DR. TERRENCE

Paul, 21 years of age and addicted to heroin for a year and a half, "comes from a nice middle-class home." He talks about marihuana and acid and their links with heroin.

6812: PHYLLIS

Phyllis, at 26, has been addicted to heroin for 8 years. She married a drug addict at 18 and thought she could make him come to his senses if she began to use heroin.

6813: DENNIS

Dennis, 23 years old, has used everything. Finally, he became addicted to heroin. He describes some of his tormented experiences with the various substances.

6901: IRVING AND RIMA

Irving, at 43 years of age, has been using heroin on and off for 30 years. He has been imprisoned for armed robbery and drug possession, and his 19-year-old son is now on drugs. He feels his life is a total loss.

Rima is 31 and has been addicted to heroin for 3 years. She feels men have abused her. In her quest for affection and security, she became a prostitute.

6902: WILLIAM AND DARLENE

William wanted to become a gospel singer. He went to college and believes he became addicted to heroin through trying to help a friend break the habit. He feels that marihuana, cocaine, and heroin have permanently impaired him.

Darlene became a heroin user at age 12. Now at 20 she talks of her chaotic early life with an alcoholic father and undemonstrative mother. She talks of the methods she employed to pay for her $100-a-day habit.

6903: AHMED AND BARBARA

Ahmed left a middle-class neighborhood to find his "thing" in the ghetto. He married a ghetto girl, tried to change her attitudes, and failed. He became addicted to heroin for 2 years and now has espoused Muslimism which he feels will keep him free from drugs.

Barbara, at 25, after 11 years of heroin addiction, is back in her community leading a productive life, trying to help others break the habit. She tells of the struggle she had to face herself.

6904: PATTY ANN AND AGUINALDO

Patty Ann came from a middle-class suburban background. Her early marriage was unsatisfactory and she began dabbling with marihuana and pills and finally became addicted to heroin. She talks of her life as a street walker.

Aguinaldo, who is 36, was impressed by the clothes and wealth of the drug pushers in his ghetto neighborhood. He felt self-conscious and inadequate, uneasy with nonghetto people. He has been addicted to heroin for 20 years.

6905: JERRY AND JOE

Jerry, after 17 years of addiction or "hell" (as she puts it), feels she must do something to change her life. It is "now or never," she says. She describes the great deprivation of her early life.

Joe was one of six children. He had no rapport with his policeman father. He began using marihuana at 13, then went to pills, and finally heroin.

6906: CLARK AND GENE

Clark has spent a quarter of his life in prisons. He invested in drugs and was a drug backer for profit. At 18, he suffered from migrane headaches and was urged to try heroin to ease his pain. He now feels he began using heroin because he was more comfortable in a drug society.

Gene talks of his progression from marihuana to his ultimate use of heroin. He took drugs to gain acceptance and also perhaps to punish his parents.

6907: WILBUR

A drug abuser for many years, Wilbur talks of the confidence game addicts play to bilk the public. He calls it the art of Tricker-ation."

6908: EDDIE

An orphan, Eddie left his adopted home after graduation from high school. Enrolled in a trade school, Eddie became lonely and depressed. He had a settled conviction that he was always low man on the totem pole. He went from alcohol to pot to heroin.

6909: CHARLES

In his ghetto neighborhood, Charles watched the pushers double and triple their money in a matter of hours. He was certain that he would never mess up by using heroin. After a series of job failures, failures with women, failures with family, Charles became a heroin addict.

6910: MR. PIERCE

Former chairman of the State Narcotic Addiction Control Commission, Lawrence W. Pierce discusses drug abuse, giving an overview of the drug problem. (60 minutes)

National Instructional Television Eastern Office, 6 Hawthorne St., Belmont, Mass. 02179.

Mark Forrester, a staff member of the local poverty program, describes the rational excuses with which these inhabitants defend themselves. He comments on ways these young people are motivated to change. The interviews alternate with candid scenes taken in the Tenderloin district.

Drugs: the children are choosing. University of California, Extension Media Center, 2223 Fulton St., Berkeley, Calif. 94720, color, total viewint time 3 1/2 hours (in 7 parts), 1969.

Part I - Drugs in our culture - 30 minutes.

An overview of the "drug problem" in our society today. Makes the point that drug use, both proper and improper, is a part of the "fabric of American Life" and therefore cannot easily be eliminated from our culture. It also shows, through a series of interviews, the divergence of expert opinion on the causes of drug abuse. Concludes by stating that children are making choices about drugs and it is up to adults to prepare them to make those decisions responsibly.

Part II - The allure of drugs - 30 minutes

An examination of the attitudes toward drug use throughout history. Shows how attitudes have varied among cultures and changed within cultures over the years. It deals with everything from coffee to morphine.

Part III - The pharmacology of drugs - 30 minutes.

A brief but comprehensive look at the drugs currently being used and abused by young people, including alcohol and tobacco. Objectively distinguishes between their positive and negative effects and includes a discussion of the patterns of drug use and their effect on the total drug experience.

Part IV - Drugs and the very young - 30 minutes.

An attempt to show through simulated everyday situations and a detailed account of a 15-year-old girl's drug experience why a normal young person might experiment with drugs. Suggests that while such experimentation is understandable considering the overall education experience young people are receiving, it is not necessary, and outlines an alternative educational approach based on sumpathy, honesty, credibility, and personal example.

Part V - The need for a dialogue - 30 minutes.

A report on a day-long conference in the San Francisco Bay area in which a group of junior high students, several professional and nonprofessional adults participate in an experiment in communication around the subject of drugs. After failing to communicate as a mixed group, the students ask to meet separately with a child psychiatrist among the professionals. Under the direction of his sympathetic skill, an open, honest dialog ensues revealing the complications and frustrations of modern childhood. The implication is that without honest communication there can be no understanding of young people's problems and consequently no basis for helping them.

Part VI - What some communities are doing - 30 minutes.

A look at two West Coast programs dealing with drug abuse on a local level and a description of how each was developed. The first was designed by a school district, the second is a community-wide interagency assault on the problem and its symptons. Concludes that education must extend beyond young people to the whole community if it is to be effective in curtailing drug use.

Part VII - What can we do - 30 minutes.

A look at three different approaches to open communication between adults and young people and among young people themselves. One is an eight grade classroom situation in which the teacher moderates a discussion about drugs. The second is an informal conversation between a psychiatrist and preteenager in which he encourages them to speak their minds. The third is an encounter session where college volunteers rap with teenagers struggling to cope with personal problems. States, in conclusion, that all sides of the drug controversy must be aired and considered if we are going to guide the young to wise decisions regarding the use of drugs. Appropriate for secondary school students, college students, and adults. Serves as an introductory series of programs for above groups if used with accompanying guide outlining topics of discussion and activities to follow up each segment.

Escape to nowhere. Professional Arts, Inc., P.O. Box 8484, Universal City, Calif. 91608. 25 minutes, color, S, 16mm., 1968. Purchase $275, Rental $27.50 for 3 days.

Deals with LSD, marihuana, hashish, heroin, and methamphetamine. Probes the attitudes which lead to drug abuse. Film follows a 16-year-old New York City girl who soloquizes about her adolescence, about what it is like to be a teenager, and about the major role drugs play in her life. Good for surburban senior high school students and surburban adults.

Flowers of darkness. 1968, color,22 minutes. NIMH Drug Abuse Film Collection,Distribution Branch, National Audiovisual Center, Washington, D.C. 20409.

Examines the international drug traffic, drug laws, and history of drug use and regulations in the country, including the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act. The film states that drug laws and penalities are not enough: we must understand the addict and try to dry up sources. The film is good for background information, but it is limited in that it is heroin centered. Overall, the film could be used in junior and senior high school, college, or adult groups.

From pot to psychedelics. Net Film Service, Indiana University Audiovisual Center, Bloomington, Ind. 47401. 32 minutes, b/w. S, 16mm., 1968. Purchase $180, Rental $5.90.

This film provides a look at the social, legal, and moral aspects of drug use and abuse in the United States. Interviews are conducted with drug users, legal authorities, sociologists, and medical researchers. Scenes of the hippies in San Francisco; an interview with Timothy Leary, self-described psychedelic prophet; and New York's Greenwich Village are included.

Future drugs. University of Southern California, Film Distribution Section, University Park, Los Angeles, Calif. 70009, 29 minutes, b/w, S, 16mm., 1964.

Discusses current research on possible new drugs and points our medical problems to be solved.

Hallucinogens. University of Southern California, Film Distribution Section, University Park, Los Angeles, Calif., 90007, 29 minutes, b/w. S, 16mm., 1964.

Examines the uses of vision-producing called hallucinogens.

Help. Concept Films, Suite 312, 1155 15th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

Live scenes filmed at a hot line-crisis center in Philadelphia portray the staff in action as they offer telephone counseling, give medical examinations or trace potential suicide calls.

Here's help. National Institute of Mental Health Drug Abuse Film Collection, National Audiovisual Center, GSA, Washington, D.C. 20409. 20 minutes, b/w, S, 16mm., 1970.

Presents various approaches to treatment of drug abuse in this country. Includes such programs as Synanon, Odessey House, Awareness House, and Lexington, Kentucky.

House on the beach. Field Services Department, Audiovisual Center, Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. 474-1. 60 minutes, b/w, S, 16mm., 1966.
Tells of the communal center approach at Synanon in Santa Monica, California, which emphasizes self-help among volunteer addicts living and working together.

Inhale-exhale - the new terror. Stanley Brady Productions, 6670 Lindenhurst, Los Angeles, Calif. 90048, 23 minutes, b/w, S, 16mm., 1965.
Presents actual case histories from the files of the Los Angeles County Juvenile Hall relative to glue sniffing.

I think. Wombat Productions, Inc., 87 Main Street, Hastings-on-Hudson New York. 10706. 19 minutes, color, 16mm., cost $230. 1970.
This film recognizes and deals with the difficulties facing children and youth today as they struggle to develop individual identities as feeling, thinking, responsibly acting persons. Audience: elementary and teacher training.

Little pushers. Universal Education, Visual Arts, 221 Park Ave. South, New York 10003, 18 minutes, color, S, 16mm., 1968.
From Dragnet series. Deals with narcotics problem in the junior high school; teenage addiction and selling. Parent unawareness and teacher training are emphasized.

LSD-25. Professional Arts, Inc., P.O. Box 8484, Universal City, Calif. 91608. 27 minutes, color, S, 16mm., 1967.
This film uses the technique of having a capsule of LSD-25 tell the story of its use, effects, and benefits. It gives a broad coverage to its mode of preparation by illegal drug manufacturers and its method of distribution.
The film covers bum trips, self-injury, and suicide, alterations in brain waves and other cellular changes, as effects from its use.
It is recommended for use with junior high school and older groups.

LSD: Lettvin Vs. Leary. Net Film Service, Indiana University, Audiovisual Center, Bloomington, Ind. 47401. 51 minutes, b/w, S, 16mm., 1967. Purchase $210, Rental $8.90.
A debate about LSD and marihuana usage by advocate Timothy Leary, former Harvard psychologist and now a physiology progessor at MIT. The strongest arguments for and against LSD use are put forth in colorful rhetoric before a responsive auidence of college students.
